It was five hours of driving for 20 minutes in the Anchorage office. It was a beautiful sunny day and the mountains were gorgeous.

In case any of you need me today - I have to drive to Anchorage to resolve computer problems. I somehow got locked out and have to get on an EPA system to get back in. It will take all day but I can be reached on my cell (when not driving through the mountains) at: Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy Or you can call my desk number, which will forward to me cell for today.

Subject: BBA: Setting our Final Schedule

Team:

The pieces for the Bristol Bay Assessment are coming together. We still have much to do, but we are on track for the public release of the external review draft on Tuesday, May 8th.

Below is our revised - and hopefully final - schedule. I have provided details for both the full report and the executive summary. Please note the schedule and set aside time to review the report one more time.
